COUNTY APPROVES CWA PROJECT LIST

$560,000 To Be Asked for Road Improvement and Dredging Work.

The Fulton county commission Wednesday gave formal approval to $560,000 worth of projects which will be submitted Friday to the CWA for approval. The program includes 20 road improvement proposals, eight county school sidewalk projects, and provides for the drainage of Campbell creek and cleaning of Big Creek. Estimates provide $12,000 for the drainage and dredging proposals and $14,000 for the sidewalks.

Major projects in the county road program include improvements of Campbellton road, from Dodson drive through Ben Hill; old Brown Mill road, from Lakeside Heights to Lakeview; Westley avenue, from Habersham to North Side drive, and the Fairburn road, from Adamsville south to the old county line.

The commission took under consideration a request presented by the Governor's Horse Guards for the county to act as intermediary in procuring a PWA appropriation of approximately $150,000 for the construction of a new armory and stables on

Dixie Grist Mills
Granted Tax Relief
WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—(AP)—Representative McMillan, democrat, South Carolina, was advised by the farm administration today that the farm processing tax regulations have been modified to allow small southern grist mills to expand as much as a bushel for individual farmers without obtaining an affidavit of the mill or grist for his own use.

The new order was sent to President Roosevelt at Warm Springs, Ga., by air mail with the expectation that the executive will approve it in time for farmers to escape giving the affidavit Saturday, the customary "grinding day" in some parts of the south.

The 50-acre tract now owned by the Guards on Lindbergh drive.

In an effort to expedite collection of delinquent taxes, the commission authorized County Tax Collector W. S. Richardson to dispatch notices to all taxpayers that 1931 and 1932 taxes must be paid by December 19 or property will be levied on January 1 and will be sold on the first Tuesday in February. The collector was also instructed to issue notices that if, on unpaid taxes for 1933 will be issued immediately after the close of the tax books December 19, which will mean an additional expense of $1 for taxes under $100, and $1.50 for taxes in more than that amount, besides interest.

It was pointed out that unless the county can collect the $125,000 in taxes due for 1931 and 1932 it will be unable to balance the budget and meet requirements for the estimated $2,000,000 loan in March, and that a curtailment of expenses will thus be necessitated.

Further consideration of the proposed dredging of Big Creek in old Milton county was had when the commission filed a bid of Nichols Construction Company, prepared by Hewitt Chambers, counsel for the company. The proposal provides for cleaning the creek and surrounding swamp land for about 12 miles, at an average cost of $3,000 for the greater part of the work, $5,000 for certain areas where more work will be required.

Mr. Chambers told the commissioners that there was now a case of malaria in the vicinity of the creek directly traceable to lack of improvement of the area.

Atlanta-Southern Dental College presented a petition asking that the county settle the school's taxes for the past seven years upon a 25 per cent reduction. The commission indicated that the county would settle upon the same basis as final settlement of city taxes is made.

Salaries for all department heads were fixed for 1934 upon the same basis as for 1933, and the commission requested all department heads to submit to the board no later than December 15 requests with regard to changes in the salaries of the personnel of their respective departments.

Atlanta Thanksgiving To Be Clear and Fine

A sparkling, clear Thanksgiving Day, with summer-like temperatures, was forecast Wednesday by the weather bureau. The temperature will range from 44 to 72 degrees.

This condition, the bureau expected, will prevail over most of the country today, giving ideal weather conditions for all sorts of celebrations of the day.

Wednesday's temperature officially ranged from 51 to 69 degrees. Unofficially, in outlying sections, the thermometer was 21 degrees lower, due to the fact that heavy smog clouds early in the day blanketed the city proper, and kept out the cold. The smoky condition was due to light winds Tuesday night.

Negro Shoots Father.
As the result of a quarrel between a father and his son, Will Parks, negro, of 934 Hubbard street, the father, was in Grady hospital with a bullet wound in his arm, and the son, James Parks, was being sought by police Wednesday night.

Bronze Plaque of Mayor Key Is Presented to City

'DEAD' OVERTON VOTER PROVES QUITE ALIVE

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 29.—(AP)—The "dead voter" appeared very much alive before the senate committee investigating Senator John H. Overton's election today, and testified that he "was alive now and also was alive on election day."

The witness, Peter A. Barres, had been described by a previous witness as "a dead man being allowed to vote for Senator Overton." Barres took the stand armed with registration and poll tax papers and proved to the satisfaction of the committee that he was the same man who had been cited as the "dead voter."

Chairman Tom Connally, democrat, Texas, congratulated the witness on being alive and observed:

"In addition to investigating, this committee has the power to raise the dead."

"It has been testified by a witness put on the stand that you are a dead man and that he had read of your funeral in a newspaper. 'I want to know if that is true?'"

"I don't believe so," said Barres as laughter swept the chamber.

"I want you to be positive," said the senator.

"I am positive," said the witness. "How about being alive on election day, September 13, 1932?"

"I was alive that day, too."

The entire morning session was consumed by the third appearance of Senator Overton, who testified that he was not a candidate for the office of senator.

He said very little money was spent for the election of Senator Overton as there was "no contest" and funds that were expended were principally for candidates for state offices and congressional seats.

He estimated the total expenditure for Senator Overton at $13,000, which he said represented mainly the cost of headquarters, and he did not believe all of it should have been charged against the Overton campaign.

In round figures, he said he had handled about $30,000 for all of the candidates but he had not kept books, only memoranda and slips. Most of the transactions, he said, were in cash. He denied receiving any funds from collections from state employees.

"There has been some testimony given you that you were afraid to put the campaign money in a bank in a case of their shaky conduct," said Senator Connally. "Is that so?"

"Yes," replied Weiss.

"You put your hotel money in the bank, didn't you?"

"Yes, but that was different."

"As a matter of fact, wasn't that just a pretext for not keeping any records?"

"I wouldn't try to use a pretext, Senator. The opposition taught me what I know about politics. John Sullivan (anti-Long leader) told me never keep any records in his life."

Mr. Weiss denied the previous testimony of Mayor T. Semmes Walmsley that "strong armed men" had been election day to "see that the Overton side got a square deal."

Mr. Weiss, who is manager of the hotel housing the headquarters, said he did not see the men in his hotel and if they had been there he would have seen them.

Second Puryear Trial Ended in Deadlock

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 29.—(AP)—The second murder trial of Stanley A. Puryear, accused of the slayings of his wife and daughter, ended in a mistrial today.

The corpulent used car dealer was accused by the state of hacking his wife and daughter to death with an ax, May 2, 1932, and fatally wounding a negro, upon whom he placed the blame for the ax slayings. He was acquitted about a year ago of a murder charge growing out of the death of the negro.

The trial ending today was based on the death of the wife and daughter. The jury was out 21 hours. The foreman said the jurors were hopelessly hung.

17 Carolinans Held In Slaying of Negro

GREENVILLE, S. C., Nov. 29.—(AP)—Two more arrests were made today in connection with the slaying of George Green, aged Taylors negro, by a masked mob on November 16, bringing to 17 the number of arrests in the case.

Those arrested today were M. R. Freeman and E. E. Parnest. The warrants for them, charging murder, were sworn out before Magistrate Louis E. Smith by State Constable Fred Newman, who has been here for several days by order of the governor investigating the slaying.

Both the men were released on bonds of $2,000. The amount was set by order signed by Judge C. J. Ramage, who is presiding over common pleas court here.

James S. Allison, who was arrested Monday, and J. F. Westbrook, taken into custody yesterday, were still in jail today. All other defendants have made bond and been released.

In Georgia's Fields and Streams

By H. A. CARTER

CAROLINA WREN.

I have been trapping for small mammals recently, taking an occasional specimen of a golden mouse or deer mouse. In the course of time it became necessary for me to go after some squirrels, so I set some larger traps near my home. A catastrophe befell this morning. I found a Carolina wren, dead in the trap set for a squirrel. It had been attracted by the bait, which was mainly rolled oats. Why couldn't it have been a sparrow?

The Carolina wren is the largest of our native wrens. It is over five inches long and is dressed in brown, as are all its relatives, at least those of eastern North America. It has a white line over the eye, and the underparts are buffy. This bird sings at all hours of the day and seemingly most of the year. I have heard them at early dawn in the first week of December, and early in the spring they are at it again. The song has been variously transliterated. Chapman, I find, gives it in one form as "tea-kettle, tea-kettle," rapidly repeated. I cannot see how this prosaic reference to a kitchen utensil can express the absolute exuberance of the song of joy of the Carolina wren. I prefer to state it myself as "merrily, merrily, merrily, merrily."

Occasionally a Carolina wren will build in a box intended for its smaller cousin, the house wren. It is, nevertheless, a bird whose nervous disposition and shyness, above all things, fit it for a life in the deep woods. You will find them abundant near Atlanta, but almost always in rather secluded places.

Although nervous in disposition, the Carolina wren doesn't make as many gestures with the delicate tail as the house wren or winter wren. The last named, by the way, has a song that is a revelation. It lasts exactly four seconds, and is a series of perfectly clear and individual notes. I have often enjoyed a close view of Carolina wrens while fishing, having had them come within five feet of my face as I scarcely dared breathe.

All in all, I have only the most pleasant memories about this bird, which I have known since early childhood. And it had to be one of these that was caught in my trap. Why couldn't it have been something else? Particularly a sparrow?

Wrong Man Is Abducted, Kidnapers Get Only $11

CHICAGO, Nov. 29.—(AP)—Kidnapers had to be content with $11 today instead of the $20,000 they demanded because police said they made a mistake in identity and abducted the intended victim's chauffeur.

The whole affair was over in two hours last night and aside from disturbing the slumber of Thomas E. Maloy, head of the Motion picture Operators' Union, and costing George Graham, 28, his chauffeur $11 and some anxious moments it had no other immediate effects.

However, police said they saw in an attempt to abduct Maloy himself or his son, a student at Morgan Park Military Academy. Graham was seized early in the evening while putting the Maloy automobile in the garage at the rear of the residence on the south side.

Stock Yards Strike Ended by Arbitration

CHICAGO, Nov. 29.—(AP)—The strike of approximately 8,000 workmen at the Union stockyards was settled early today, at least temporarily, when the employer organization agreed to a 10 per cent wage increase, pending further negotiations. Within a few minutes after the agreement was reached, pickets were withdrawn and the strikers started back to their jobs.

A parley, beginning at midnight last night, arranged by Robert M. Hutchins, president of the University of Chicago and chairman of the Chicago regional board of the NRA, brought about the agreement, which was regarded as a partial victory for the stockyard workers.

Grand Jury Declines To Indict Mrs. Clark

WOODBRURY, N. J., Nov. 29.—(AP)—The Gloucester grand jury, which investigated the killing of Sheldon A. Clark Jr., wealthy Paulsboro resident, failed to indict his widow, Mrs. Andrew Smith Clark, former Broadway dancer, who was charged with slaying him.

Authorities said Mrs. Clark would be released immediately. She is in a Woodbury hospital, recovering from a severe blow on the head which she said was inflicted by her husband with a billiard cue just before he was shot to death.

WILLIAM S. WARDLAW, PRINTER, DIES IN N. J.

Former Constitution Em- ployee Was One-Time Head of Printers' Union Here.

William S. Wardlaw, former president of the Atlanta Typographical Union, and formerly employed in The Constitution proofroom, died Tuesday in Newark, N. J. The body will be brought to Atlanta for funeral services and interment.

Mr. Wardlaw was a native of Conway, Ga., and resided for many years in Atlanta, being connected with several Atlanta dailies. He was prominent in the affairs of the Typographical Union and represented the local organization at two international conventions.

He was on the stage for several years before this century, producing "Billie Wardlaw's Minstrels." He had been employed on the Newark News for many years, having left Atlanta in 1921. Funeral arrangements will be announced by the J. Austin Dillon Company.

70-Year-Old Atlantan Drops Dead on Street

Stricken while walking on the street, Bloomfield Duncan Langford, about 70, of 794 Ponce de Leon avenue, N. E., dropped dead Wednesday morning on the sidewalk.

He was taken to Grady hospital in an ambulance but was pronounced dead upon arrival. It was thought that his death was caused by a heart attack. He is survived by his wife, a daughter, Mrs. John W. Woodcock, of Greenville, N. C., and a sister, Mrs. William Brown, of West Point, Ga. Funeral arrangements will be announced by the Brandon-Bond-Condor Company.

Three CWA Projects Approved by DeKalb

Commissioner C. A. Mathews, of DeKalb county, Wednesday announced that the Georgia Civil Works Administration commission had approved three important CWA projects in DeKalb county which will involve an expenditure of about $100,000 and provide employment for 1,223 men.

The first is the paving of the six-mile road from the Stone Mountain-Lithonia road; the second, paving of Glenwood road from the Covington road to east Atlanta, a seven-mile road; and third, the paving of Mount Vernon road from Dunwoody to the Fulton county work.

SHIPMENT HALTED ON ARSENATED CITRUS FRUITS

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Nov. 29.—(AP)—Because they have found them absolutely unfit for human consumption, approximately 40,000 boxes of arsenated Florida oranges and tangerines will be barred from shipment, Commissioner of Agriculture Nathan Mayo announced here.

The commissioner said arsenated oranges and tangerines will not be allowed to leave the state until after December 1, the end of the state citrus inspection period, although this has been done in years past.

He said his order would not extend to arsenated grapefruit. The state supreme court recently upheld a circuit court injunction prohibiting Mayo and his agents from having movement of arsenated grapefruit.

"Arsenic does not effect grapefruit anything like it does oranges and tangerines," Mayo said.

VETERANS TO INDUCT TALMADGE ON DEC. 10

Governor Eugene Talmadge will be given the oath of allegiance as an honorary member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars at the meeting at the city auditorium on December 10, when General Smedley D. Butler, retired marine corps officer, and James E. Van Zandt, of Altoona, Pa., commander-in-chief of the V. F. W., will speak, William G. McRae, commander of the local post, announced Wednesday.

Among those especially invited to attend, in addition to the governor and his staff, are Major James L. Key, Major General E. L. King, commander of the fourth army corps area, and military leaders of the city.

ELECTRIC RATES REDUCED.

The agreement entered into between the Georgia Power Company and the state at the conclusion of the hearings which have been in process before the public service commission, under which sweeping reductions in both power and light rates will be effected, is a happy solution to what might otherwise have terminated in a long-drawn-out controversy, with probable recourse to the courts.

The agreement of the officials of the power company to make the new rates effective of December 1 means that the electric consumers of Georgia will immediately begin to receive the benefit of the agreement reached between the company and the state.

The new rates will effect a material reduction in all types of service furnished by the power company, ranging from 3.1 per cent for commercial users to 37 1/2 per cent for the light service to small homes. It is estimated that a total saving to the consumers of electricity in Georgia will be not less than $666,000 per year.

The agreement is a material achievement for the administration of Governor Talmadge, is a credit to the painstaking efforts of the public utilities commission and a tribute to the public-spirited attitude of the officials of the Georgia Power Company.

The new rates will be as low as those of any state in the Union similarly situated as to electric power and will not only benefit those who use electricity in their homes but will be a stimulant to the industrial progress of the state.

It is to the outstanding credit of the state administration and the officials of the power company that the benefit of lower power and light rates are thus assured without the delay and unfortunate wrangling that has occurred in other states incident to the demand that electric rates be reduced.

The administration has again proved its determination to serve the people in every way possible, and the action of the power company officials in agreeing to the new schedule and putting it into effect at once is a unique instance of willingness on the part of a great public utility to co-operate to the limit of its ability in serving the public.

ABIDE BY THE PRIMARY.

In the approaching regular city election the voters of Atlanta should, and undoubtedly will, ratify the results of the recent city democratic primary.

It would be unusual if the city should depart from its traditional custom of accepting the mandate of the primary. More than that, it would incur the danger of bringing about a situation which might make more acute already disturbed governmental conditions.

This is no time for action which would tend to weaken the primary system. On the contrary, it is urgent that proven methods should not now be departed from.

In the recent primary all candidates had fair and equal opportunity to go before the people and present their case. It would be not only dangerous to the best interests of the city, but poor sportsmanship as well, to go back on the results of this primary as formally announced by the accredited authority.

Unquestionably an overwhelming majority of the city committee sustains the result announced only after careful investigation. They were elected by the people for the purpose of making arrangements for the holding of the primary and announcing its results, and as such their decision should be upheld by those who participated in the election.

Governmental conditions are too disturbed now to warrant any action by the voters that would tend to add to the uncertainty already existing.

Danger lies in any effort to shake the public confidence in the primary system.

The voters should, as they have in the past, uphold in the approaching regular election the results of the primary.

THE INEVITABLE AFTERMATH.

A lynching in Missouri and the violence following the arrest of four men in Maryland charged with participation in a recent lynching in that state illustrates the inevitable aftermath when the people of any community take the law into their hands.

The Brooke Hart kidnapping and murder were so fiendish in detail as to make not difficult an understanding of the tense conditions resulting. The deplorable feature of this outbreak of public resentment is not so much in the reflection cast upon the nation in which it occurred as in the influence exerted upon the lawless elements in other communities.

The history of lynching and mob violence in the United States shows that conspicuous instances of mob violence have, almost without exception, been the inspiration for similar outbreaks elsewhere and in cases where the offense against public sentiment was less aggravated.

It is not surprising that a lynching in Missouri should have quickly followed the California hanging and that even in the thickly settled state of Maryland a condition of unrest should have been engendered.

These two unfortunate developments merely emphasize the fact that, for the sake of the public safety, the law, whatever its weaknesses, must be upheld, and that to condone a lynching in one instance simply leads to more lynching in cases in which there may be less justification.

In the last analysis, the law as represented in American court procedure is largely responsible for the mob outrages which have, without regard for section, disturbed the peace of the country so often.

It is because of the loopholes—the technicalities, the shunting of cases from one court to another, appeals and new trials—offered for the escape from justice of those guilty of crime, that these outrages have occurred.

The inadequacy of the American legal system, as compared to those in other countries, is forcefully illustrated, as pointed out by The Constitution in its comment Wednesday morning on the California lynching, by the recent indictment for murder by a Canadian court of two Tennessee men, their extradition, trial, conviction and execution within a few weeks' time after the commission of the crime.

Under American laws these two men could have stretched out their cases for a year or more, with the chances that they would receive only penitentiary sentences and be pardoned or paroled long before their time was up.

Public resentment against the laxity of American law is emphasized by the records showing that most of these released prisoners return to lives of crime.

Our legal procedure should be so revised that the public may have reasonable assurance that when a man commits a crime he will receive prompt trial, certain conviction and full punishment.

If lynchings and mob violence are to be abolished in the United States there must be an end to the present court conditions under which a conviction is merely a preliminary step in the defense of a guilty man, promptly followed by resorts to technicalities which indefinitely delay the enforcement of justice.

The Fugger Wealth.

After being kept intact by a family for over 400 years, part of one of the most costly libraries in the world will next week be put up to auction in Munich. This priceless collection, containing many unique volumes, could never have been assembled by any family less wealthy than the Fuggers of Augsburg, whose name for several generations in the Europe of the Renaissance was as suggestive of world power as that of the Medici.

How the Fuggers acquired their wealth is one of the romantic history of the family was founded in the fourteenth century by a penniless weaver who tramped into Augsburg, looking for work, just as the Reformation was about to dawn. Owing to its position on the overland trade route between the Mediterranean and Baltic, Augsburg became the greatest commercial city of its day, and each generation of Fuggers showed greater business genius than its predecessors. They owned silver mines in Tyrol, copper mines in Hungary, ships on every sea, their trade in spices, wool and silk being enormous. They had the right of minting money, and were the bankers of kings and emperors.

A Rash Inscription.

A visitor to Stonehenge who escaped with a mild fine after defacing one of the ancient stones, had to learn that some of the other victims of strange proclivities, Robert Burns had a curious weakness for that sort of thing. He would scribble verses over the chimney-piece of an inn-patron, scrawl them with a diamond on a tumbler, a wineglass, or a platter, and on one occasion he permanently ruined his prospects by scratching a verse on the window of an inn at Stirling. The sting in this verse was in the concluding lines:

The injured Stuart race is gone,
A race outlandish fills their throne.
Adiot race to honor lost,
Who knows them best, despise them most."

Poison Gas.

During the debate on Dr. Bene's speech in the foreign affairs committee of the Czechoslovakian parliament, the Czechoslovakian minister asserted that Germany was rapidly increasing her armaments and feverishly manufacturing war material. He stated that in G. F. Farnham's article, one of the biggest chemical concerns in the country, manufactured more than a thousand kinds of poisonous gases, and that the firm, located in Hamburg, and the Kahlbaum concern were also manufacturing poisonous gases. All German motor-car factories were now able to convert their works for the manufacture of aeroplane motors in case of war.

The deputy pointed out in support of his allegations that Germany had increased the importation of such raw materials which could be used for the manufacture of armaments.

Health Talks.

TO AVOID THE CRI KEEP FIVE FEET FROM THE CRIMINAL.

The mountain labored and . . . John Hopkins expedition, which set out amid great acclaim two or three years ago to discover nature, cure and cure of the "common cold" has made an epochal discovery, to wit, that some persons have a flock of "cold" viruses they may be—every year for maybe two or three years and then the fourth year they seem to escape such infections. Isn't that amazing?

J. F. M. writes from Atlanta that he learned something from the "slings and arrows of my outrageous sarcasm." For instance he learned that the person with a sniffle really has a cry. By keeping at least five feet away from such a criminal, J. F. M. has escaped the cry for over three years.

Just where do I get the idea that one can avoid such infection by keeping outside of the spray range? Oh, I forgot, but careful tests made 20 or 30 years ago showed that the droplets of a nature given off when one sneezes or coughs with uncovered nose and mouth carry as far as 10 or 12 feet, whereas the droplets given off when one converses in ordinary tones are less than five feet.

We know T at these moisture droplets, perhaps invisibly fine, carry any germs or virus that may be passed from person to person in ordinary social contact or proximity, whether the disease be tuberculosis, diphtheria, pneumonia, meningitis, whooping cough, measles, or any one of a dozen other specific respiratory infections.

Many health authorities have issued warnings to the public about uncovered coughs and open-face sneezes and even without such warnings most persons instinctively feel indignant toward the boor who coughs or sneezes upon them. But I have never known of a public health authority who dared to warn the public about the danger of the conversational spray, in time of epidemic.

RESTLESSNESS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—The No. 2 brain trustee may be the next to go. Those closest to Professor Rex Tugwell say he has no hankering for permanent government service. He likes politics only at a distance.

His personal arrangement with Columbia University now is based on a three-month leave of absence, renewable at regular three-month intervals. He may get it continued once or twice more and then again he may not.

Tugwell's chief interest in life now is to nurse his pure food and drug bill through the coming session of congress. He will like congressmen even less when he finds out what they are going to do to that measure.

His coming experience may keep him here longer than he thinks.

MELANCHOLIA

Then again, insiders know he has recently encountered some discouraging objections to his program on the inside. Contrary to the general belief, everything is not going his way. He may suddenly decide to pack up and go back to the classroom if his ideas are blocked.

That belief became a hot tip in the inner circle a few days ago. It was encouraged by the fact that a leading economist of the department at Columbia asked several pupils signifying how they would like to have Tugwell back for the next semester.

Tugwell denied the yarn to intimates, but it is still a yarn.

BREEZES

The administration master-minds have some new taxation ideas that would blow your hat off—a complete reform in the federal tax system.

However, your hat is fairly safe for the next year or so. The ideas will probably have to wait, because there is so much else to do first.

For the coming session of congress, the general taxing rate structure will probably remain undisturbed. Regardless of all the rumors, the only reductions that are now being seriously contemplated are in nuisance taxes.

Any chance of restoring reasonable income levies is out.

PLANS

The program is not formulated yet, but here is the way it will probably work out. A moderate liquor-taxing resolution will be proposed by the treasury and passed by congress before January. The powers in control are going to keep all other taxing questions out of that resolution.

The liquor tax will be fixed for the purposes of protection against bootlegging, rather than for maximum revenue. The money it will raise will be far less than the wet speakers were promising when they advocated repeal on the stump.

When that resolution is out of the way, the taxing authorities will draw a series of emergency amendments.

These amendments will correct uninteresting defects developed in the law hastily passed at the last session. Included also will probably be amendments killing perhaps $200,000,000 to $400,000,000 worth of the excise and miscellaneous taxes now in force. The idea is they are holding up business.

There may be a hitch in that plan. When the question of taxes is once opened up in congress the sky becomes the limit. Tax reductions are very popular with congressmen just before congressional elections.

HIGH IDEAS

The White House is a silent structure, but it is not without ideas. The idea that the whole taxation scheme is not well drawn. There is a feeling that when business once gets back on its feet a new system should be adopted to provide well-balanced revenues in times of want as well as plenty.

These ideas may include some inheritance and gifts taxes much higher than those now in force (and which, incidentally, are not bringing in much money). High bracket incomes also are looked on with disdain.

DE-EMPHASIZING

The administration orators now are laying less stress on the NRA and putting more on the whole balanced recovery program.

That is the result of orders from higher up. The eminent publicity scientist, Charles Michaelson, is supposed to have figured that out.

The idea is that the NRA was oversold and should be de-emphasized (like football at Harvard) so that the general curriculum will get more attention.

NOTES

Tugwell scored one for his side in the whisky code. It each bottle should tell truthfully the extent to which the whisky had been rectified.

The 'New Deal' Furnishes Inspiration for Renewed Spirit of Thanksgiving

Editor Constitution: Thinking people will pause to give thanks for Roosevelt's "new deal," which means infinitely more than just another clever phrase to beguile the real issues at stake. Behind that solemn promise stands the man whose dynamic actions to bring about relief of social and economic distress produced the tidal wave of epochal changes in our attitude not only toward government, but toward life itself as well.

There could be no more propitious occasion for thanksgiving than today, for after comparatively short time the national recovery act has put four million men back to work and heightened the morale of the country.

These millions of men are men more than a quarter of a million idling young men who are now doing such splendid work in reforestation and construction of the roads, while the civil works administration recently created relief agency has already given gainful employment to the hundreds of thousands throughout America.

When I think of our president, I am reminded of the words of that great American sage—Ralph Waldo Emerson: "He is a man who must accept in the highest mind the same transcendent destiny; not minor and invalids in a protected corner, not converts from some false religion, but guides, redeemers and benefactors, obeying the Almighty effort and advancing on chaos and dark." These sacred and prophetic words seem to have been written to apply to our president. For he has not come out in the open to champion the inalienable rights of man and has not so bravely dealt a staggering blow to the morbid depression which has not completely engulfed our social structure.

In the midst of our painful transition towards a better civilization, with the material comforts that are ours, we can take new heart and new inspiration from those hardy pioneers whose undaunted courage in the face of adverse conditions is so typical of America.

Think in ourselves and in one another remembering President Roosevelt's words "together we cannot fail." We have much to be thankful for. JOSEPH A. LOEWINSOHN.

average department store trade in Atlanta stores was adjusted for seasonal variations was 116.8 for last month, as compared with 115 for the same month of 1932.

The report noted decreases in production of coal in Alabama and Tennessee and in the production of pig iron in Alabama.

Building permits declined slightly from September to October in the fourth district, but the national report indicated an increase in the volume of construction undertaken, reflecting the expansion of public works.

In the national summary, it was shown that steel mill activity declined between the middle of October and the first week in November, but in the following three weeks showed little change. Although output in the automobile industry has been curtailed in recent weeks in preparation for new models, it was reported that for the first 10 months of the year the number of cars produced was 50 per cent greater than in the corresponding months of 1932.

POWER EMPLOYEES GIVE MARBLE BUST TO DR. HIGHSMITH

In recognition of 25 years of service with the Georgia Power Company and "his service to humanity," employees of the railway department of the utility company Wednesday presented Dr. E. D. Highsmith, physician for the power relief association, with a marble bust of himself.

Dr. Frank Boland made the speech of commendation at the ceremony. Speaking his acceptance, Dr. Highsmith sketched his life from the time 35 years ago when he began work as a laborer in the car barns, through his work as a lineman and later as medical advisor for the relief association. During his early years of connection with the utility he studied medicine at night and graduated with an M. D. degree in the work of James Kirkpatrick Watt, of Scotland, and Nelson, Ga., and the ceremonies were held in the athletic association hall of the power company.

DAKAR, Senegal, Nov. 29.—(AP)—Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh were reported in a wireless message tonight from Porto Praia, Cape Verde Islands, as planning to leave for the capital of the Republic of Senegal, at dawn Thursday.

The message said Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh, who have been at Porto Praia since Monday, would fly over Dakar en route.

MAIL PROBES SEEK DATA ON AIR FIRMS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—(AP)—The senate ocean mail investigating committee was disclosed today to have sent a questionnaire concerning their capital structures to the major air mail holding companies.

Although intimations have come from the committee that hearings on air mail subsidies may not be reached until congress convenes, since several shipping concerns are still to be investigated, Chairman Black (democrat, Alabama) said the collection of air mail information would continue.

The Price of Oats Doesn't Matter If You Grow All Your Horses Need

By Robert Quillen

Planning for the future, any man young or old should take into consideration the fact that our modern civilization doesn't need all of its manpower.

Our factories are equipped, as everybody knows, to produce more goods than our people can consume—even in normal times.

And the constant improvement of labor-saving machinery, designed to lower operating costs, deprives more and more men of their jobs.

These jobless are urged to go back to the farm, but here also they find an ever-increasing demand for their services.

Men are producing more on fewer acres. Although the population steadily increases and more farm land is abandoned every year, the acreage in cultivation continues to produce more than the market will absorb.

The jobless man displaced by machinery cannot move to the country and make money.

No matter what he produces, he finds the market so glutted and the price so low that he must sell at a loss if he sells at all.

How, then, can he live?

The problem can be solved by artificial means. Those who have jobs can be taxed to provide a dole for surplus workers; tax money can be used to provide a retirement pension for those who are past their prime.

But there is a natural solution that will enable surplus workers to earn their living and keep their independence.

They can go back to the land and make each farm a self-supporting unit, almost wholly independent of the world.

Modern farms are not farms but factories. They produce a crop that must be exchanged for money to buy the products of other farms.

But moderns can do as their forefathers did and enjoy abundance without producing a surplus for the market.

If the nation has no place for ten million of us, it will save money in the long run by establishing that many on the land, where they can have freedom, self-respect and security and yet no longer be factors in the world's hard competition.

HOLLYWOOD IN PERSON

BY MOLLIE MERRICK.

Dear Reader: Presenting Fredric March while I wait for a wise-crack to get started to let a star wise-crack at columnists.

MOLLIE MERRICK.

By FREDRIC MARCH. (Copyright, 1933, by the North American Newspaper Syndicate, Inc.) HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Nov. 29.—They tell me there are 250 accredited newspaper correspondents in Hollywood, and that they are all writers, photographers. That information helps to piece in my mind the spectacle of your correspondent being hauled in a tumbler by 250 columnists headed for every composing room "hell-box" in America.

I have been asked to write a Hollywood column. Does that, Miss Merrick, embrace some good night's sleep. Discussing the nature of news dispatches that flash daily from the cinema circus? If it doesn't, then there are pressed in the foregoing paragraph. For I am, if your Sherlockian nature hasn't suspected it already, about to give steam to some random observations on the subject of news from Hollywood.

Without wishing to appear immodest, could I use a personal experience as a case in point? I refer to my recent illness. The ailment was a mild attack of influenza. What I needed was one good night's sleep. Did I get it? Like Rastallus got happiness! Every telephone in the house blasted away all night. The scribes were asking if I was dying and they weren't going to be disappointed. I'm not sure, and I hope I'm wrong, but a few of the callers seemed disappointed when I answered. After that I was in bed for a week's run at the Grand Florida.

U. S. REVEALS PLAN ON '34 COTTON CUT

likely if the reduction campaign succeeded and it was known that officials feel that cotton will rise substantially the higher before next year's harvest if the plan goes through.

No cotton land producing an average of more than 10 pounds per acre will be rented, Johnston said.

The rental benefits are based on a payment three and one-half cents per pound for the average yield of the land taken out of the production in the period from 1928 to 1932.

The first cotton plan for next year and 1935 made public by the administration indicated that it was necessary to give parity payments, rental benefits would be deducted from the amounts paid.

Johnston said today this idea had been discussed and that the growers were certain of the rentals and at least a parity payment of one cent per pound on their domestic allotment if the price of cotton is below parity.

Parity Defined.

A parity price for cotton is defined as the figure for which it must sell to have the same purchasing power it had in the period from 1909 to 1914.

Producers of the protection of share croppers and tenant farmers, who are written into the cotton contracts which will be offered the land owners.

The contract stipulates: "The producer shall endeavor in good faith to bring about a reduction of acreage contemplated in this contract in such a manner as to cause the least possible amount of labor, economic and social disturbance, and to this end, in so far as possible, he shall effect the acreage reduction as nearly as possible in proportion to the acreage on this farm; shall in so far as possible maintain on this farm the normal number of tenants and employees; shall not permit the rental of the farm to the occupancy of their houses on this farm, rent free, for the years 1934 and 1935, respectively, unless any such tenant shall so conduct himself as to become a nuisance or menace to the welfare of the producers during such years; shall afford such tenants and employees, without cost, fuel for such wood lands belonging to this farm as they may designate; shall permit such tenants the use of an adequate portion of the rental for the growing and feed crops for home consumption and for pasture for domestically used live stock; and for such other purposes as shall permit the reasonable use of work animals and equipment in exchange for labor."

Restrictions on Use.

The contract placed restriction around the use of the cotton land taken out of production and stipulated a division of rental and benefit payments between the landlord and his tenants.

The 1934 cotton program is estimated to cost around $125,000,000 for rentals alone. These payments will be made in two annual installments, the first between March 1 and April 30, 1934, and the second between August 1 and September 30, 1934.

GOLD POLICY CALLED BOON FOR COTTON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—(AP)—Oscar Johnston, finance director of the farm adjustment administration, told newspapermen today that in his opinion the "gold" policy was "distinctly beneficial to the cotton-growing south."

The finance director asserted that the addition to raising the domestic price of the staple the president's monetary program gave this country a chance to "get rid of surplus cotton without encouraging foreign competition."

Johnston said that if present exports of cotton continue this country will have sold about 10,500,000 bales abroad before the end of this year.

Between August 1 and September 30, 1934, Johnston said that while he disliked to speculate he believed the present trend would find the American market for cotton next August 1 at around 9,000,000 bales, a considerable reduction from the large surplus which has prevailed since 1931.

George Peck, administrator of the farm act, said the cotton contracts and regulations were being printed and that directors of extension in various states were being organized ready to begin the sign up campaign early in December.

He said no definite date had been fixed for the signing of contracts but that the signing of contracts would begin as soon as the forms had been distributed.

The program will be administered under the direction of the extension forces in the cotton states and county production control associations will be organized and charged with local administration of the program. The charter members of the associations will be the county commission with participating farmers in the 1933 adjustment campaign.

Kansas Negro Jailer Gives His Life In Foiling Escape of Bank Robber

The desperado wrested the pistol from Davidson and fired three times, two shots entering the negro's chest. One went wild.

With shouting strength, Davidson shouted for help and grappled with his younger assailant. He tossed Thornburgh backward down the steps from the upper cell tier, the prisoner knocked unconscious when he struck his head on one of the steel steps.

Officers found the pair, with the jailer lying across Thornburgh's body. Thornburgh was treated at a hospital, returned to jail and then, as the mob gathered, rushed to the prison. Davidson died on the way to a hospital.

When assigned as night jailer, Davidson was promised the superior: "A prisoner will kill me before he gets away."

He made good that promise.

COMPROMISE NEAR IN CUBAN STRIFE

HAVANA, Nov. 20.—(AP)—Benjamin Fernandez de Medina, minister from Uruguay and author of a plan for political conciliation in Cuba, said Tuesday, all factions had accepted his scheme except the A B C and the Menocalists.

The Uruguayan minister said he believed the plan had sufficient backing to carry through until President Ramon Grau San Martin retires next year.

He said there was little hope for Mario G. Menocal, nationalist leader, and his supporters would accept Grau as president, but said this would not matter.

Bombs continued to burst in Havana, injuring six persons today, and the government said it would not allow while neutral factions attempted to bring order out of political chaos.

The Uruguayan envoy's plan involved a coalition cabinet in which all factions, government and opposition, will be represented. A "council of state" numbering 100 would be elected to represent the political and semi-political factions, but also business, industry,

In Oriente province, furthermore, existing sugar mill strikes were increased by the walkout of employees at the Boston mill near Banes, property of the United Fruit Company, and strikes of telephone company employees and tobacco workers appeared

Observers saw danger that the city's telephone service might be disrupted as approximately 1,000 employees of the Island-Wide Cuban Telephone Company presented their employer with 16 demands and prepared to strike immediately unless they were granted.

Tech Georgia Freshmen Clash; Varsity Squad Dealt Blow

10,000 TO SEE TEAMS BATTLE FOR THE KIDDIES

Annual Game Starts at 2:30 O'Clock; Real Fight Looms Here.

By Jimmy Jones.

Soon after the midday repasts of turkey and its accessories have been disposed with, Atlantans will be treated to an excellent dish of football out at Grant field today.

It is the annual battle between the Georgia Tech and the University of Georgia Freshmen, which is expected to attract a crowd of 10,000 persons as a spectacle and some several thousand worthy dollars for the cause of the Scottish Rite hospital fund.

The strong legs will begin running at 2:30 o'clock—that the weak legs may walk—and there will be some preceding buffoonery in the form of a clown football game by Tubby Walton's troupe of harlequins, which starts at 2 p. m.

PRELIMINARY GAME. If you care to see the game of football played in ragtime and the elephantine Mr. Watson cowering in a Mother Hubbard gown as the "country boy's alma mater," you might make it a point to be among the early arrivals.

The freshmen teams of Tech and Georgia are always interesting to Atlantans and their respective alumni followers. The game usually is a good tip-off on the strength of the varsities in following years and is always a nip-and-tuck affair with some thrilling and mayhap brilliant football displayed by the yearlings.

The Tech frosh have their player attractions in a number of star expert performers from Atlanta and state schools, including three members of Boys' High's prep champions of last year, namely Charlie Preston, who will play center for the Baby Jackets, Larry Hays and Dick Beard.

ANOTHER PURPLE. Jimmy Moore is another former Boys' High boy who will play some. There would have been a fourth, but for the fact that Harry Appleby, who played great ball for Shorty Doyle, has transferred to Vanderbilt.

Georgia has Frank Anderson Jr., son of the famous Oglethorpe baseball coach; Jimmy Cavin, from Decatur High; Harry Harmon Jr., son of a former Georgia varsity hero; Herb Bonner, from Tech High; and Gatchell, of Boys' High, all of whom Johnny Broadnax is bringing along for this game.

There is a father-and-son angle out there today. "Mit" Fitzsimmons, Tech freshman tackle, and Harry Harmon Jr., Georgia freshman tackle, are sons of two former tackles who starred for the respective schools.

Foster Fitzsimmons Sr., a well-known Atlanta man, played a tackle for the Tech team of 1907 and Harry Harmon Sr., was a tackle on the Georgia team that year, both being stars players. That was one of the years Kid Woodruff played for Georgia.

"LITTLE 20 PER CENT." Mr. Fitzsimmons, the elder, incidentally, played on the Tech team with "Twenty Per Cent" Davis, one of Tech's early heroes, who was an end. His son, who, of course, is called "Little 20 Per Cent," will play left end for the Tech freshmen.

Ernie Tharpe, Baby Jacket halfback, also has illustrious connections at the Plains. His big brothers, Mack and Bob, preceded him as star Tech linemen.

The Tech frosh may be handicapped somewhat today by injuries to two regular players, Milt Fitzsimmons and Matthews, a guard. Matthews can't play but there is a chance for Fitzsimmons, if he overcomes a knee hurt. He was needed yesterday. He wants to play this game very badly, as do all the freshmen.

The Tech freshmen are coached by Kenneth Thrash, a tackle on the '28 Tech champions and Roy McArthur, a regular back for three years. Mac Tharpe, who coaches the Grey Devils, also heads the Tech freshman staff.

Following the game there will be a dinner at the Capital City Club at 6 o'clock in honor of both teams and their coaches.

Tickets to the game today may be purchased at the Tech athletic office and at the Shrine temple. They also may be bought at the stadium gates today. Prices are $1 for reserved seats in the east and south and 25 cents in the north and south and 25 cents for children.

Shrine officials report a heavy advance sale of tickets for the game. It is Atlanta's most interesting football day from a standpoint of Tech and Georgia.

Padrone, Crussell To Meet Monday

Tony Padrone, known as the roughest light heavyweight in the wrestling game today, will appear next Monday night on Promoter Jason Thompson's card at the new indoor Fair Street arena, Fair street and Capital avenue.

Padrone, who comes from St. Louis, was locked up last week in Florida to protect him from the mob after he had thrown his opponent from the ring on a red-hot spot. Matchmaker Thompson has brought Padrone here to meet Bill Crussell, the wild man from Birmingham. The Italian flash ought to beat Crussell in this tough battle, which is a no-time-limit affair.

A veteran of 28 years in the ring, and some 2,800 matches, is Bulldog Gust, who was introduced last Monday night. He has challenged Romanoff, who refused to meet him. However, Hugh Finn, undefeated for four years, will take on the Bulldog in the semi-final. Matchmaker Thompson has obtained Gust to beat Finn, but the young Georgian has other ideas and the result will be a bang-up affair to the end.

Eddie Wagner, navy champion, will have another chance to please his fans in the opener, meeting Will Bill Collins in the first of these splendid matches for next Monday night. Wagner looked good, though losing, against Crussell.

A boxing match between Billy Hooper and Battling Moon, two colored scrappers, completes the program. True to his promise, Thompson is bringing good wrestling to these splendid matches for next Monday night, and Monday's card will be even better than last week's card which kept the fans in an uproar.

Entire Sports World Mourns Passing of Bill McGeehan

TUCSON, Ariz., Nov. 29.—The entire sports world is sad tonight. It will never be quite the same without Bill McGeehan, who passed on at Brunswick, Ga., this afternoon.

Bill McGeehan occupied a place in the newspaper profession which was unique. He was the first to point out all that was false and unworthy in sports. He was the first to realize that our national heroes were created by the typewriters of the nation's sports writers and McGeehan was always careful never to elevate a hero with feet of clay unless he first called attention to the clay.

McGeehan saw the beginning of sport as a great financial business. He was one of two newspapermen, the other being the late Ring Lardner, who was sent into Goldfield, Nev., where a gambler named Tex Rickard was offering the amazing sum of $20,000 in gold for a fight between Battling Nelson and Joe Gans. That was the beginning of the gold era of sports and McGeehan lived to see it reach an undreamed-of peak.

He created a style of writing and a phraseology which is much copied today. It was he who termed boxing the cauliflower industry, the manly art of modified murder. Gangsters threatened his life when he exposed the crooked workings of their influence in the fight game. But McGeehan remained adamant and true. He was the first to recognize Gene Tunney's genius; he was the first to predict that Tunney would defeat Jack Dempsey and become a great world's champion.

McGeehan was kindly, courteous, intelligent and a writer of international renown. But greater than this was his humanity, his gentleness and the loyalty which he had for his friends and his profession. He was a man. When word of McGeehan's death was received here tonight it saddened Georgia coaches and newspapermen with the team. Harry Mehre, Georgia's coach, expressed keen regret at the news. The writer feels a distinct personal loss in the passing of Bill McGeehan. He was always kindly, considerate and encouraging to the writer from the very beginning of a newspaper career. The game had too few like Bill McGeehan.

HOW FAR IS TOMBSTONE?

I have always been more or less interested in this place called Tombstone, Ariz. And if it is the place where the ex-Cracker managers, like the elephants, go away to die. I have not inquired of the natives just how far away this Tombstone place is, but I shall do so at the very first opportunity. Possibly I can go there and converse with the ghosts of the ex-Cracker managers.

SLEEVELESS SAM BROWN.

Mr. Harry Mehre, who is directing this expedition to the gold coast, informs me that Sam Brown, the Albenny boy, is going to start at a halfback for him against Southern California. I am hoping that it is a pretty day (and they don't have any other kind in California) so that Sam Brown can play without his sleeves. He cut them off up to the elbows at the start of the season, because they interfered with his stiff arm. Sam Brown has the hands of an artist when he starts lunging the football and he doesn't care to have the sleeves dangling at his wrists. At Tucson, the altitude is a trifle high and Sleeveless Sam Brown may have to wear the sleeves to keep his arms free of goose pimples until he gets out of here.

SMITHIES FACE DEATH CLAIMS MIAMI TODAY W. O. MCGEEHAN

By Roy White.

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 29.—Tech High's Atlanta championship football team arrived here early tonight for its second annual game with Miami's Singarenses, Thursday afternoon in a feature of Miami's annual Thanksgiving celebration.

Soon after arrival the team took brief rest about town and retired for the night.

Coach Tolbert has called for a practice Thursday morning. Punting, passing and a signal drill will make up a score of 7 to 6.

This is not the pleasure trip that a majority of the players had in mind as they left Atlanta Tuesday night, for after the game Thursday, practice will continue on Friday and Saturday here and will be resumed Monday when the team returns home.

St. Paul meets Lanier in Atlanta December 9 for the state title and already having lost by a single point to Lanier, Coach Tolbert is more than anxious to get revenge and win the title. That is why the Smithies will continue to practice while here.

The coaches are undecided about a starting lineup.

BRUNSWICK, Ga., Nov. 28.—(P) W. O. McGeehan, New York sports columnist, died here late today. Physicians attributed his death to a heart ailment.

The noted writer and sports authority came here some time ago for a vacation and to visit of Colonel Tillinghast L. Houston, former part owner of the New York Yankees, when he was stricken.

McGeehan remained in the hospital until a few days ago when he left the institution to go to St. Simon's island, next to the mainland here.

McGeehan Loved His Native City. SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 29.—(P) W. O. McGeehan, sports writer and columnist of the New York Tribune, who died today in Brunswick, Ga., was born in San Francisco and broke into newspaper work in this city.

His first experience was as a general news reporter in the '90s. He fought in the Spanish-American war as a member of the California Volunteers.

McGeehan worked on the old San Francisco Bulletin and wrote his first sports column for the Chronicle in 1912. He had a big readership in this city and was noted for his dry wit.

Old-time San Franciscans recalled McGeehan as a writer for his native city. Many years after going to New York he wrote to friends here: "I'd rather be a flea on a dog's back in San Francisco than be mayor of New York."

During one stage of his career McGeehan directed his wit against Battling Nelson. Readers waited from day to day to buy the papers. "Durable Day" grinned as widely as any day McGeehan wrote: "Battling Nelson would never make a name; he wouldn't look out of the round portals."

Trojans Lose Giant Tackle. LOS ANGELES, Nov. 29.—(P) Houston Harper, 215-pound tackle on the University of Southern California football team, will not be able to play against Georgia here Saturday, it became known late today.

"A shoulder injury suffered in the game with Oregon two weeks ago and hurt again against Notre Dame will close the big tackle to remain on the sidelines."

While Coach Howard Jones had intended starting Art Dittburner at right tackle in the game with the Bulldogs, Harper will be missed since the Trojans have been weak at this particular position all fall.

Bonowitz Selects J. P. C. Cage Squad

Coach Joe Bonowitz yesterday announced selection of the Jewish Progress Club basketball squad for the season of 1933-34 and also the opening game of the schedule.

The J. P. C. men will make their season's debut in a game with the Macon Judeans on their Pryor street floor the night of December 10.

The players chosen on the squad were the veterans, Dody and Harry Spielberger, Izzy Friedland and Baisner from last year's varsity; Henry Browdy, star center for the Birmingham M. H. A. of last year; Louis Klein, Rubin Grant and Elliott Rubin. The latter three played with the Reds last year.

BULLDOGS STILL WEARY; TROJAN SHIFT EARNED

Coaches Worried as Team Continues Listless Way in Third Drill.

By Ralph McGill.

TUCSON, Ariz., Nov. 29.—At first I thought it was phony, the rain which began falling on the Georgia football team as it went out for practice this afternoon. But it wasn't—it was wet. It was a hard, grim old rain, which reminded one of a November day in Georgia. The gutters ran with rain and the native citizens of Tucson refused to be out and refused to face the visitors. That is why Tucson always appears to be uninhabited on rainy days, they call it the city of eternal sunshine and a hard rain is embarrassing.

Georgia went through another light workout but it did include a scrimmage against the Southern California which the Red Devils have learned.

WORN AND WEARY. The Georgia team still appears to be worn and weary. This was reported on Sunday, the first day out. And that weariness still sticks with them. Consequently coaches were alarmed at the apathy of the team today.

"I think we would have done better to have ridden all week and simply dressed and gone out for the game," said Harry Mehre.

It is no longer a question of injuries. The injured seem to be well enough to play. But the team is still very listless and inept.

Buck Chapman was the big worry. Of all the injured, he was the only one whose condition was doubtful. His leg was worse than it has been in two weeks. If he is out the Georgia team isn't the team it needs to be for a national football game.

Harry Mehre said that he hoped it was the rainy weather which caused the injured leg to become sore again. Chapman will be used Saturday if he has to go out there with crutches under his arms.

The team scrimmaged in the cold, pouring rain, but Harry Mehre called it off relatively early. The Red Devils were able to gain with their Southern California plays. This is a bit embarrassing as the readers have come to suspect the football reporters of writing stories about the enemy plays gaining as just a bit of routine writing. But again they did.

Mehre reorganized the backfield with Bond and Johnson starting halfbacks. John Brown and Frank Johnson will start at guards instead of McCullough and Moorehead.

I do not see how Georgia can win the game, but they may. But after watching the pictures of the Trojans in action and the discussion of them by Tex Oliver, coach of the University of Arizona, I am convinced that Georgia is to meet the greatest team in the United States. It has considerably more weight, more power and more reserves.

CHANCE TO WIN. The Bulldogs have a chance to win if they can get Homer Key and Cy Ford into the open field, or pass for a touchdown, or use the trick.

The south has never seen a team which resembles the Trojans, unless it was one of Wallace Wade's old Alabama teams which had tremendous power and skill.

Football on the west coast has gone pretty far ahead of the other sections, and the Trojans are no longer a bulwark in the east.

The Bulldogs will scrimmage again on Thursday. They will be entertained at the Stanford-Athens football game Thursday morning.

In the afternoon they will practice and see the Arizona-Whittier game in the late afternoon.

It will be a pleasure for this correspondent to see the Whittier team. Often he has wondered just what a team from Whittier or Slippery Rock would be like.

The Thursday practice will be the last hard one for the team. It will entail after the football game and go on to Pasadena, arriving Friday morning. The game will be held on the California Tech field.

SPIRITS GOOD. The spirits of the team are good. Several of them have purchased the big ten-gallon hat which the people actually wear out here. The boys thought it was all movie stuff until they saw them.

Following the trips to the old missions and the Papago Indian reservation have also been on the program. Meanwhile, they are talking little about the game, their ideas about the game are something of a mystery.

Harry Mehre was considering some radical moves because of his worry over the weight of the Trojans. He was talking with the idea of putting Batchelor at fullback for one thing. Batchelor played fullback in prep school, but has been an end and center for Georgia. It is unlikely that he will actually make the team, but he is considering them because of his worry.

The boys are all eager for news from home and the newspapers mailed in have been a great help.

Trojans Lose Giant Tackle. LOS ANGELES, Nov. 29.—(P) Houston Harper, 215-pound tackle on the University of Southern California football team, will not be able to play against Georgia here Saturday, it became known late today.

"A shoulder injury suffered in the game with Oregon two weeks ago and hurt again against Notre Dame will close the big tackle to remain on the sidelines."

While Coach Howard Jones had intended starting Art Dittburner at right tackle in the game with the Bulldogs, Harper will be missed since the Trojans have been weak at this particular position all fall.

Rosenbloom, Godwin Matched for Florida WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Nov. 29.—(P)—Bob Moore, matchmaker for the Disabled American Veterans' arena here, announced today he had signed Maxie Rosenbloom, world light-heavyweight champion, for a 10-round over-weight match to a referee's decision with Bob Godwin, 7 to 6, here on December 14. Godwin is the south's leading contender for the title.

Coach Pittard has one of his best teams in recent years, and in Smith, quarterback, and Bodwin, tackle, two players who deserve all-state mention for their consistent play.

Smith, son of "Major" Smith, Tech's veteran supply sergeant, has been playing good ball, while Preston, former Boys' High hero, is a powerfully built chap and is equally at home as a center or guard.—Staff photos.

HELEN JACOBS IS THREATENED

BOSTON, Nov. 29.—(P)—Six anonymous threatening letters from San Francisco caused Miss Helen Jacobs, women's national tennis champion, to seek the aid of federal authorities today.

With the appearance of a girl who was "just plain mad," Miss Jacobs strode into the office of Francis J. W. Ford, United States attorney, in the federal building, and filed her complaint. She took the letters with her and left them with Ford who said he would turn them over to postal inspectors for investigation.

The contents of the letters or the nature of the statements contained in them were not made public officially by Ford. He said he would only say, "I'm sorry, but I can't say anything."

The tennis champion, who comes from Berkeley, Calif., conferred with Ford for almost an hour. After she had gone Ford would not say whether or not Miss Jacobs had suffered any possible motives for the sending of the letters.

However, it was considered possible that the letters were an attempt to throw Miss Jacobs off her tennis stride and prevent her from competing since she won her championship by default from Mrs. Helen Wills Moody at Forest Hills, N. Y., last summer.

She had planned to start practice soon at the covered courts of the Longwood Cricket Club in Brookline. She might enter the indoor tournament at Longwood late next month.

It was apparent that Miss Jacobs was upset. She strode down the corridor to Ford's office with a woman's friend hurrying to keep up with her. They left in the same manner, with Miss Jacobs striding along, looking neither to the right nor left and muttering to herself.

Ford declined to say when the first letter was received or when the last letter was received. He said he understood that Miss Jacobs had communicated with the office of the attorney-general in Washington about the matter and that she was now in the case up with the United States attorney here.

WROTE CLASSIC. When McKevore's faction finally won its fight to oust the picturesque Mr. Robinson after his 18 years of managing the Flatbush club, Sheriff McGeehan sat down to his typewriter and delivered a classic diatribe upon the ungrateful owners who had grown rich during the Robinson regime.

After Uncle Robby left Brooklyn and came south to live and act as president of the Atlanta club, McGeehan practically renounced his allegiance to New York also, transferring his abode to Dover Hall.

The date-line, "Brunswick, Ga.," long familiar to McGeehan's following, carried daily beneath its incomparable stories dealing with the bucolic atmosphere of Dover Hall; of John Strickland, the matchless deer hunter, of Robinson and of Colonel Hunkles, the former co-owner of the Yankees.

WROTE HIS COLUMN. It was only two weeks ago that Wilbert Robinson was speaking of his friend McGeehan, affectionately, as usual. He was regaling a roomful of notables at the minor league meeting in Galveston, Texas, which included Judge Landis, with some stories about the Sheriff's illness. He told them McGeehan insisted on his sports column every day, against the orders of the doctors.

"He sits up there in bed, with a nurse taking his temperature," and a doctor, taking his heart beat, and pounds that column out with two fingers," declared Mr. Robinson. "And he won't miss a day writing it until he dies."

And the last thing that Bill McGeehan did on this earth was to write his column. He was a newspaperman to the last. And Wilbert Robinson was his life-long friend.

'Robby' and McGeehan Inseparable Friends

Noted Sports Writer Spent Much of His Time at Dover Hall.

By Jimmy Jones.

Sheriff Bill McGeehan, the veteran sports writer who died yesterday, and Wilbert Robinson, the veteran baseball man, were inseparable friends and mutual admirers.

Their friendship, which was of the staunch, lasting variety, began back in the gay nineties and increased to downright affection with the march of events and the years.

McGeehan was one guest whose welcome was never worn at Dover Hall, Robinson's famous hunting lodge near Brunswick, Ga. The latch always hung on the outside to him, so to speak, and he came and went as he pleased and when he pleased.

As soon as winter came McGeehan would pack up his typewriter and follow the robins southward. He would remain as Mr. Robinson's guest at Dover Hall until the snow melted and the sunlight shone on the sidewalks of New York again.

LIKED DOVER HALL. In later years the famous sports columnists of the New York Herald-Tribune began spending more and more of his time at Dover Hall. His health was not good and the pastoral quietness of the place and the gentle souls of Wilbert Robinson, "Ma" Robinson and Colonel Hunkles made him feel comfortable and happy for him.

Bill McGeehan, or "Sheriff" McGeehan, as Mr. Robinson called him, was the latter's favorite topic of conversation in any conversation. He always spoke affectionately of him and never missed an opportunity to praise his writing. Uncle Robby thought McGeehan was the greatest of the New York sports writers.

McGeehan was one of those metropolitan newspapermen who always had a good story to tell, and frequent squabbles with Judge Stevens and Lockhart, mentors for the Wolverines, will pin their hopes on several youngsters who have made good in a big way this year. Parks and Mitchell, two freshmen, will lead the Moriches attack. With "Shag" Jones as the key man, these two youngsters are expected to thrill the largest crowd of the season with their spectacular broken-up game.

Coach Aiken, crafty veteran leader of the Clark eleven, has no fear of the powerful Morris Brown machine. His squad has been completely revamped since the Morehouse game and in practice this week looked like a championship team. Carl Ray, triple threat man, will again meet the All-American "Shag" Jones, which is the outstanding feature of the game. Miller, Snead and Wellmaker will be Ray's running mates in this game.

A special occasion will be reserved for white fans. The weird cheering of the students is an attraction in itself.

IN THEIR FOOTSTEPS . . . .

NO longer can Thanksgiving be regarded as an observance grown rather meaningless with the years. Its original purpose is once more righteously restored and made one with our own. If it be true that "History repeats itself," then that surely is the case today.

The trials and troubles of the Pilgrims have been ours, under different names, in modern garb. And now, with time to pause and take stock of our blessings, we find reason to observe a holiday once almost meaningless.

Just as that first Thanksgiving became yearly tradition, at least in spirit, let us resolve to make this Thanksgiving a point from which to move ahead, taking stock of our advantages and resolving to make each succeeding year a greater cause for "Thanksgiving."

All Pending Offers, However, May Be Rejected After Opinion.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—(AP)—Ford Motor Company products today were again ruled eligible for federal contracts, but in his opinion, J. R. McCar, the comptroller general, included a view that might nullify pending bids of Ford and rival dealers.

McCar ruled for the agriculture department that whether the Northwest Motors Company, of Bethesda, Md., a Ford dealer, violated the retail motor code was "for judicial determination" and not for the purchasing officer to decide.

The question was raised by Hugh Johnson, the NRA administrator, as an outgrowth to the failure of Henry Ford to sign the automobile code, with Johnson contending the company's bid probably was under the minimum price set by the code.

One paragraph of the McCar ruling said: "If the situation with respect to the applicability of any code provision has so changed since October 21, 1933, the date of opening of the bids in the instant matter, that any of the bidders may feel that a contract awarded now upon the basis of its bids as then submitted would involve a violation of any provision of the applicable code, such bid may be withdrawn, or better, all bids should be rejected after the government's needs are re-evaluated."

This question, departmental officials said, had been referred to the division handling the bids. They recently ruled that the Northwest Company was eligible to bid.

WIFE FACES CHARGE IN SHOOTING OF GOLFER

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 29.—(AP)—Ray Mangrum, professional golfer, nursed a bullet wound in his left arm today and his wife, Mrs. Margaret Mangrum, 21, also wounded, was in the prison ward of the General Hospital, held on a charge of suspicion of assassination with a deadly weapon, police said.

APPLICATION FOR INCORPORATION

GEORGIA—Fulton County.

To the Superior Court of said County.

The petition of W. B. Hutchinson, of Dougherty County, Samuel D. Hewitt, of Fulton County, and Eunice W. Fulton County, all of said State, respectfully shows to the Court:

1. That they desire for themselves, their associates and successors to be incorporated under the name and title of GEORGIA BEEF CATTLE RAISERS' ASSOCIATION, of ATLANTA, GEORGIA, a corporation of twenty years, with the privilege of renewal at the expiration thereof, and from time to time as is now or may be provided by law.

2. That the principal office and place of business of said corporation shall be located in the City of Atlanta, Fulton County, Georgia.

3. The objects and purposes of said corporation shall be to promote in all ways possible the interest and welfare of cattle breeders and raisers in the state; to advertise Georgia as a cattle raising county as an inducement for buyers to come to the state to make purchases through public and private sales; and to do all things necessary to promote the welfare and general quality and enhance the reputation of Georgia cattle; and to do any and all things necessary to promote the welfare of this state and of the cattle breeders and raisers.

4. Petitioners desire for said corporation to have the right to receive donations, gifts and bequests; to acquire, buy, own, hold, lease, convey, and dispose of real and personal property; to sue and be sued; to make contracts; to execute and receive all instruments necessary to carry out the purposes of this corporation; to borrow money and secure the same by mortgage and other security; and to do all other things necessary or proper to carry out the purposes of this corporation.

5. Petitioners desire the right for said corporation to establish by-laws, rules and regulations relating to admission for membership therein, and petitioners desire the right to require dues exacted from persons seeking membership therein.

6. Petitioners desire for said corporation the right to use and be used, placed and be placed, to have and use, and to execute and receive all instruments necessary to carry out the purposes of this corporation; to borrow money and secure the same by mortgage and other security; and to do all other things necessary or proper to carry out the purposes of this corporation.

7. WHEREFORE, petitioners pray that this petition be read and considered, and that petitioners be incorporated under the name and title of GEORGIA BEEF CATTLE RAISERS' ASSOCIATION, of ATLANTA, GEORGIA, for the full period of twenty years, with the privilege of renewal at the expiration of said time, and with all other privileges and immunities prayed for in this petition and as are now or may hereafter be allowed a corporation of similar character under the laws of Georgia.

LINDLEY W. CAMP, Attorney for Petitioners.

Filed in office, this 30th day of November, 1933.

J. W. SIMMONS, Clerk, Superior Court of Fulton County, Georgia, do hereby certify that the foregoing is a true and correct copy of the application for charter in the matter of Georgia Beef Cattle Raisers' Association, of Atlanta, Georgia, as same appears of file in this office.

Witness my official signature and the seal of said court, this 30th day of November, 1933.

Fussed Trainmaster Walks Mrs. Roosevelt Over Tracks

GLENN RAMSEY, Associated Press Staff Writer.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt spent 15 minutes walking across railroad tracks in Terminal station here late Wednesday because an excited trainmaster couldn't find the train to Warm Springs.

The wife of the president laughingly followed the round veteran of 40 years' service as he argued with negro porters about the location of the train on which Mrs. Roosevelt was to ride the short distance to the little town where her husband is vacationing. She left Washington at noon Tuesday.

Mrs. Roosevelt was to change trains here. Railroad officials were advised in advance, so the man who knew most about the location of the train was able to find it for her.

"If you are convinced beyond a reasonable doubt that you are not to the electric chair," said Solicitor Wade M. Wright, of Decatur, in opening the state's argument, "if you believe as a juror that a human tongue ever told, then convict him," said Solicitor H. E. Bailey, of Boaz, "but if he is clothed with a presumption of innocence until you 12 men find him guilty."

When court recessed until 8:30 a. m., tomorrow, the man who was convicted and sentenced to death on charges of attacking Mrs. Victoria Price, Huntville mill worker, on a freight train as it rumbled through the mountains of Jackson county on March 25, 1931, stood before the court.

RICHY CRAIG JR., VAUDEVILLIAN, DIES IN GOTHAM

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—(AP)—Richy Craig Jr., vaudevillian of dry humor, sharp wit and easy delivery, has lost his seven-year fight against tuberculosis. He died yesterday at a New York hospital at the age of 31.

Craig, whose recent talking picture "shorts" have added to a popularity which he established in New York as a monologist and master of ceremony, started his stage career at the age of 17. Two years later he "played the Palace" in New York, then the criterion of vaudeville success.

His father was a prominent burlesque dialect comedian and his mother an actress of the musical comedy stage. They survive, as does his widow, Mrs. Edith Craig, now in California.

Problems of general interest submit

DEAR MISS CHATFIELD:
 "We are two girls looking for
 "two perfect gentlemen." Where are they? We have waited a long time for them to appear. Does a boy of today respect a decent girl when he meets her? We are disgusted with the manhood of our generation.
 They seem to care nothing for a lady who refuses to pet and smoke and drink and run around like working girls and get along fine with the boys until the hypnotising flirts appear and with them the respect of petting. It seems to us that the girls themselves are responsible for this sad state of affairs for if they didn't start the amilliarities they responded to them. It looks to us that the new independence that women have come into has robbed them of their good senses. Are we right?

TILLIE AND BUBBLES.

and in the neighborhood where perfect ladies live. Men have always been and will always be what the majority of women want them to be. They rise or fall to the social standard set for them by the fair sex. The law of gravity applies to mortals as truly as to physics. Falling is easier than rising and more quickly accomplished.

Make no mistake about, a boy of today respects a decent girl

paradoxically, when he comes to the marrying age he wants the idyllic life for his wife and the more worldly wise and experienced he is the more he feels the necessity for the choosing a wife who has maintained high social standards in her association with men. This is the one thought that should inform the girl whose pride is wounded and whose mind is confused by the apparent success of the spotizing flirts that snatch the

There are short cuts to success in every realm of life, in business, in society, in politics and profession, but even those short cuts involve the sacrifice of ideals, when they require desertion of principle for policy, and the net and final result is not success but failure. Mark it down, the man who invites familiarities, or even flatteries, at the hands of his friends, may have more dates than he can fill and still be held in light regard by the boys who date her. She only destroys her own prospects.

It is not likely that the new independence women have come into responsible for the letting down moral standards. This letting down is rather attributable to the everent, irresponsible and laxing of the present day. Independence doesn't change a person's character. It doesn't reverse a person's nature. It simply permits one to give expression to what lies latent within. For example you two also enjoy the same independence others. From the girl's standpoint, life is almost a total loss if she has only one beau, no matter how much she loves him. When you are both in position to talk of engagement and marriage, that will be another matter. Then, if the girl loves you, she will lose interest in the other men. For her only one man will exist. ## Miss Huggins Weds Mr. Strickland At Quiet Ceremony

Of interest to a wide circle of friends is the announcement of the marriage of Miss Estelle Huggins and Ralph Strickland, which was quietly solemnized Wednesday evening at the home of the Rev. H. C. Emory, pastor of Martha Brown Methodist church, in the presence of the immediate families and a few close friends. Mrs. R. L. Morris, sister of the bride, was her only attendant and she wore a wine-colored crepe gown with black accessories.

The attractive young bride was gown in brown-shaded crepe with accessories to match. Completing her costume was a top coat of brown boucle trimmed with dyed squirrel fur. Her flowers were a bouquet of Talisman roses.

The groom had as his best man his brother, Marvin Strickland. Immediately following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Strickland left by motor for a short wedding trip. Upon their return they will be at home at 583 Flat Shoals avenue, S. E.

Painting Exhibit Is Announced

An exhibit of the paintings of Mrs. Frances Dunaway Goodman will be opened this afternoon and continue through December 10 at the Patch Work Barn, located on the Sewell plantation, near Newnan.

Mrs. Goodman has recently come from her home in California to visit her sister, Mrs. Wayne P. Newman, in the Ponce de Leon apartments. Mrs. Goodman is a member of the Women Painters of the West, the California Art Club of Los Angeles, the California History Club and the Los Angeles branch of the League of American Pen Women.

There are 35 canvases in the display, including Georgia scenes, the Magnolia Gardens of Charleston, the sea, mountains and desert of the west and Mexico, biblical scenes and a portrait of Dr. J. C. Massee. Several years ago Mrs. Goodman displayed her Magnolia Garden paintings at the Atlanta Studio Club. She has received large prizes in Arkansas and California. The Patch Work Barn, a novelty in theaters designed by Mrs. Sewell, is reached by taking the highway to Newnan. Leave the paved road just after passing the Newnan Country Club, before reaching the city. Take the dirt road to the right, and proceed about four miles. The exhibit is open to the public. No admission fee.

Miss Rhodes Honors Debutantes at Tea

Miss Ellen Rhodes was hostess at tea Wednesday at the home of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. C. A. Rhodes, on Brighton road, in company with a group of the season's popular debutantes. The group included Miss Ruth Wright, Miss Caroline Crumley, Miss Suzanne Monahan, Miss Patsy Thayer and Miss Maxine Land.

The exquisitely appointed tea table was covered with a lace cover, and centered with a mound of brilliantly tinted fruits, out of which arose a silver epergne filled with yellow chrysanthemums. Silver candelabra held tall yellow tapers.

Assisting the hostess was her mother, Mrs. Clarence A. Rhodes, Mesdames Sam Guy, F. M. Barfield, William M. Dunn, William E. Campbell Jr., Edwin Leigh Wright, Robert M. Crumley, Max E. Land, Mamie T. Thayer, Miss Mimi Fleming, Harriett Lee, Jule McClatchey, Frances Morton, Isabel Couper, Gertrude Land, Marion Barber and Mary Jane Campbell.

When Your Cough Hangs On, Mix This at Home

Saves Good Money! No Cooking!

If you want the best cough remedy that money can buy, mix it at home. It costs very little, yet it's the most reliable, quick-acting medicine you ever used. The way it takes hold of stubborn coughs, giving immediate relief, is astonishing.

Any drugist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle, and add granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. To make syrup, use 2 cups of sugar and one cup of water, and stir a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed. It's no trouble at all, and gives you four times as much cough medicine for your money—a real family supply. Keeps perfectly and tastes fine.

It is surprising how quickly this loosens the germ-laden phlegm, soothes and heals the inflamed membranes, clears the air passages, and thus ends a severe cough in a hurry. Pinex is a compound of Norway Pine, in concentrated form, the most valuable healing agent for the throat. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

Emblematic of Thanksgiving

Miss Elise Terhune, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Westervelt Terhune, is pictured with one of the big turkey gobblers raised on her parents' farm near Atlanta. Miss Terhune is a popular member of the sub-deb contingent and is frequently hostess at out-of-door social gayeties given on the Terhune farm for the younger set. ## Nine O'Clocks Give Thanksgiving Ball at Piedmont Driving Club

The presence of prominent holiday visitors and a number of Atlanta's attractive debutantes featured the annual Thanksgiving ball given by the Nine O'Clocks last evening at the Piedmont Driving Club. Last evening's affair is one of the brilliant balls given annually by the Nine O'Clocks, exclusive social organization composed of masculine members of Atlanta society, the second affair being a fancy dress ball scheduled for New Year's Eve.

Attractive decorations appropriate to the Thanksgiving season prevailed in the handsome ballroom of the club, where dancing was enjoyed until a late hour, after which supper was served at tables graced by baskets of golden shaded chrysanthemums. At the far end of the room suspended above the mantel was a large clock, electrically illuminated, the hands pointing to the hour of 9 o'clock.

Officers of the Nine O'Clocks are Cobb Torrance, president; Lawson Kiser, secretary and treasurer; Baxter Maddox, Dana Belser and Price Gilbert, directors. Last evening's ball was in the nature of a welcome to the group of new members recently inducted into the organization, the list including Joseph Holman, Charles Hurt, Oscar Miller, William Meriwether Hill, Russell Fay, Holcombe Green, William Perry, G. B. Strickler and Dr. Houston Poir.

Visitors Present. Mrs. Robert Gardner, of Washington, D. C., who is the guest of Mrs. Robert T. Jones, was handsomely gowned in white satin trimmed in white fur. Miss Barbara Ransom wore a lovely figure wearing dahlia-shaded crepe, ornamented with rhinestone buckles. Miss Patsy Thayer's attractive costume was fashioned of white crepe, the high neckline and the arm holes banded in gold sequins.

Prominent Maîtres. Mrs. Robert T. Jones chose for the occasion a striking gown of wine-colored satin combined with gold lace.

Mrs. George McCarty was gowned in hyacinth blue crepe combined with silver cloth. Mrs. Augustus Black wore a striking gown of white satin. Mrs. Charles Black Jr. wore white crepe made on slender graceful lines. Crimson velvet fashioned the smart gown worn by Mrs. Caldwell Holliday, and trimmed with a large buckle studded with rhinestones. Mrs. Dana Belser wore a gown of lavender flat crepe featuring a train of silver cloth. Mrs. R. A. Edmondson Jr. wore a becoming model of wine-colored velvet trimmed with ermine tails. Mrs. Marion Courts was beautiful in her gown of American heavy red matelasse crepe trimmed with a pair of pearl ornaments.

Mrs. Robert B. Pegrum IV was a striking figure, wearing a gown of pansy blue uncut velvet with epaulets at the shoulders and with rhinestone trimmings in the front. Mrs. Everett Richardson Jr. wore a model of corn blue satin with a cluster of violets at her left shoulder. Mrs. William C. Wardlaw III was gowned in crimson velvet trimmed with ermine tails. Mrs. Hugh Carter Jr. was gowned in black velvet effectively beaded in cut-steel beads.

Mrs. David Black wore black satin, made on close-fitting lines and finished with rhinestone clips and buckle. Mrs. Grady Black's becoming costume was fashioned of white crepe and worn with a short silver coat. Mrs. Ewell Gay was an attractive figure wearing a gown of white crepe trimmed with a bertha of silver sequins.

Mrs. Claude McGinnis Jr. wore cerulean blue crepe, featured by a short coat, fashioned with huge sleeves of chinchilla. Mrs. Arthur Clarke's becoming costume was of yellow lace posed over chiffon of the same shade. ## Street Car Held Up, Two Bandits Get $18

The wave of street car robberies continued Wednesday night when R. D. Watson, operator of a West Fair street car was held up and robbed of $18 by two negroes.

Watson said the negroes covered him with a pistol and a knife while they took his cash. They overlooked his pistol, however, and the operator fired five shots at the robbers as they fled. The robbery occurred on West Fair street, near the end of the line.

SUSPECT IS ARRESTED IN ATTACK ON GIRL

ELKTON, Md., Nov. 29.—(AP)—Sheriff Albert Buckworth, of Cecil county, announced today that he had arrested Clark Price, 30-year-old farm hand of Sullivan county, Tennessee, wanted in connection with an alleged assault on a 12-year-old girl.

The man was turned over to Sheriff Newland, of the Tennessee county. Sheriff Buckworth said.

The alleged attack on the girl, Rose Testament, occurred October 25, officers said. Price started work last Wednesday on the W. D. Bidgood farm in the Grove Point Neck section of Cecil county.

The girl was said to be in a serious condition.

Thanksgiving Prayer for People Voiced by Negro on Busy Street

"Lord, don't let my people die; make them well and happy and feed them plenty for Thanksgiving. Take care of all my people, O Lord."

The aged negro who uttered this prayer shuffled down a busy Atlanta street Wednesday, talking aloud to God and apparently indifferent to the rude stares of those around him. His head was thrown back on his time-bent shoulder and his eyes gazed into the blue sky. His sincerity and his simplicity gave him the air of a prophet.

"I don't want you to let my people die, Lord! They're good folks and they ain't ready to die, so you take good care of them," the prophet pleaded.

His progress along the crowded street was slow—his dragging feet shed in a combination of worn leather and old sacking. His coat was one with many holes but he wore at least three pairs of trousers, of varying length and age. His hands were twisted with years of toil but he raised them easily towards the sky as he prayed and gestured to God.

"I love all these people," he said—and black and white and rich and poor were included in his words. "O Lord, take this depression away and let the sun shine down."

"Lord, give all my people plenty—let them have turkey and cranberries and ice cream and all the fixings for Thanksgiving."

The darky turned a corner, and continued on his way—shuffling over the cold concrete to his shack on some dark and dreary street.

Perhaps the prophet will dine today on peas and cornbread and water—if that—but some day his Lord will give him turkey and cranberries and all the fixings—even ice cream. You ask him—his certain of it!

DUBLIN, Ga., Nov. 29.—(AP)—Benton Rivers, 31, and his wife, Ruby, 22, were found shot to death in an automobile here today and Sheriff Wiley Adams said a coroner's jury found Rivers killed his wife and then committed suicide.

Each had been killed with one shot, the woman dying with a bullet in her brain and Rivers was shot between the eyes.

Sheriff Adams said the couple had been estranged for some time and that Rivers, son of J. A. Rivers, of Dublin, called at the home of his wife's father, R. O. Snellgrove, in Eastman, today and offered to take her to work.

Adams said she was not seen again until her body was found crammed into the rear of the coupe.

He said officers found several notes attached to the windshield of the car in which Rivers told of his intentions to kill both.

DECATUR DEPOSITORS WILL BE PAID IN FULL

Plans for distributing $279,000 to more than 4,000 depositors of the old Decatur Bank and Trust Company, are moving rapidly ahead, according to Augustus Sams, president of the Decatur Development Company, which took over the liquidation of the bank when it closed in 1930. Mr. Sams confirmed an earlier statement that the sum would pay all depositors 100 per cent on their claims.

First announcement of the loan by the depositors' liquidation committee of the RFO was made in Washington Wednesday by Ryburn G. Clay, Atlanta banker, who is head of the committee for the sixth federal district.

According to Mr. Sams, 47 1-2 per cent of the $279,000 claims have been paid and the additional $279,000 will pay all in full. He said this organization hoped to secure the cash in time to pay all depositors of which there were more than 4,000, before the first of the year.

Textile Mill Activity Reaches High Level

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—(AP)—The agriculture department reported today that cotton textile mill activity throughout the world during October reached a level above that of any similar period since 1929-1930.

British activities in October were higher than the preceding year, said a summary of the department, and in Japan the increase for the month reached the highest level on record, with American cotton being used in proportions larger than ever before.

The summary observed that if no agreement were reached on the Anglo-Japanese cotton trade problem, from which resulted the Japanese boycott of India cotton, probably would not be long before American cotton will represent more than 75 per cent of the total cotton consumed by the Japanese mills.

WORK RELIEF PROJECTS ARE PASSED BY BOARD

Several small road relief work projects for Fulton and Bibb counties were approved and passed Wednesday by the Georgia civil works administration, according to announcement by Morris G. Schucking, executive director of the works group in the state. She said all the projects were small road jobs and that no matter of major relief importance was considered.

The meeting was held at the Piedmont hotel and attended by William McConnell, of Macon, who is director of re-employment for Georgia.

The fifty-five year period in which Muse's has served well dressed Southern people has perhaps been the most eventful half-century in all history.

During this time Muse's witnessed the building of a New South... the physical, commercial, and spiritual union of a great people... the distress of these people in war... their joy in triumph... their exultation in expansion and power... and their pain and deep anxiety in economic adversity.

To say that Muse's witnessed these experiences is not sufficient. Muse's lived them—bore them—even gloried in them—until its great, massive walls at Five Points and the many human beings inside them grew into a single personality... a real, living character in Southern life.

Today Muse's expresses thanks and rejoices with fellow Atlantians in the prospect of Recovery. It knows, no more than any of its fellows, what lies ahead. It only trusts in Divine Providence, and enjoys a strong confidence in its faith in America and her great Leader in Washington.

Times have changed since this Institution first opened its doors on Whitehall Street in 1879. Methods of doing business have changed. Values have changed. But Muse's obligation to its customers has not varied one iota during these fifty-five years.

Muse's is here to supply you with quality
